

The Joye of surgery

DOCTOR DEVELOPS ALTERNATIVE TO OPEN-LEG BYPASS OPERATION

By Susan Hong

With two punctures the size of a pencil eraser, and a stainless steel wire-mesh “stent” half the size of a baby’s pinky, Dr. James Joye was able to bypass a complete blockage in a patient’s leg.

The patient, who was a smoker, had calcified arteries in his thigh and experienced pain after walking short distances due to the blockage, Joye said. The typical recourse was to undergo an open-bypass procedure, where the surgeon cuts open the thigh to reach the blocked vein.

But veins run in pairs, said Joye, a 45-year-old endovascular surgeon at El Camino Hospital.

“What we did instead was directly puncture into the artery behind the knee and connect with a special little stent to the adjacent vein,” he said. He made a second puncture from the groin and connected to the adjacent vein from above the blockage.

From inside the artery, using X-rays, Joye was able to create a new pathway for the blood to flow around the blockage from groin to knee — without cutting open the thigh.

It was a new, minimally invasive surgical bypass procedure never done before and only performed by him, he said — and it was broadcast out of El Camino Hospital’s operation room late last month to hundreds of doctors gathered in a convention room in Las Vegas.

The idea is to get other doctors to adopt the new procedure, Joye said. Currently, doctors perform about 150,000 open leg surgeries a year.

“The long-term goal is to make this simple enough that any physician that does what I do can do it,” he said.

El Camino ready to open Heart and Vascular Institute

DIRECTORS APPOINTED TO LEAD THE WAY

By Susan Hong

After four years of talk, El Camino Hospital cemented the opening of a new Heart and Vascular Institute last week when it appointed three cardiologists to guide, define and implement the effort.

Dr. Dominick Curatola, a former hospital board member, will fill the role of medical director of the institute. And Dr. James Joye, currently the director of the cardiac catheterization labs, was appointed director of research and education. Curatola will receive $92,160 in annual compensation, and Joye $88,320. Both are contracted to work 32 hours a month on behalf of the institute.

Dr. Frank Galli, a former professor of cardiology at UC San Francisco, will chair the quality and outcomes committee. He will work 16 hours for the institute, receive $28,800 in annual compensation and be responsible for communicating research findings to physicians in the community, hospital officials said.

The three doctors will establish an advisory board in the coming weeks to collaborate

DR. CULVER'S CASE STUDY OF THE WEEK

*"Me...? With scoliosis??
How can that be???"*

These are the words that came out when Jan saw her X-rays. She saw a 21 degree bend in her lower back, and had no idea that she was that bent, or that her constantly recurring lower back and hip pain were caused by the discs being crushed and deformed by her scoliosis.

Scoliosis is usually associated with a deformity that evokes images of the "Hunchback of Notre Dame", but, like so many things, it is a matter of degree. When a scoliosis is first starting in a youngster, 4 degrees is significant. It predicts serious impact upon her health.

At age 20, a 21 degree angle may not sound so serious. But, since a scoliosis increases, on average, at the rate of 1 degree per year, 30 years later we have a very serious problem that could be irreversible.

Fortunately, we have some new technologies that enable us to deal effectively with many of the scoliosis conditions that were previously afforded only temporary relief.

For Jan, her scoliosis angle reduced from 21 degrees to 9 degrees in 4 months, the equivalent of reversing 12 years of degenerative changes.

Check your spine, and check your child's spine, while it is reversible.

in their work, officials said.

"I think it's a huge deal," Joye said. "Right now, like it or not, there's not a single health-care destination for cardiovascular disease. There's not one place you'd point to on the West Coast ... to get this work done."

That work involves getting together medical care professionals from different backgrounds — such as heart surgeons, vascular care surgeons, engineers and nurses — to figure out better ways to more efficiently and effectively deliver patient care.

Through the institute, the hospital plans to become the "preeminent provider on the West Coast for innovative, highest quality clinical care and outstanding service to cardiothoracic, vascular and stroke patients," according to hospital officials. Massachusetts General Hospital has an institute comparable to what El Camino's hopes to achieve, they said.

Joye said the institute is even being worked into the architectural design of the new earthquake-safe facility being built by El Camino.

The hospital plans to invest helps doctors insert devices into arteries — will become part of the institute, Curatola said.

The institute will include people who can facilitate a more coordinated effort to share information and streamline services between departments, Curatola said.

"There will be a more uniform way of accessing, acquiring and sharing medical information regardless of which of the areas the patient is in," he said. "Everything now is geared toward clinical guidelines and a shared consensus approach to a given problem, so you don't have 14 people doing it 20 different ways."

Curatola said he wants the institute to implement more uniformity in heart attack treatments. Currently, when a patient comes into the emergency room complaining of chest pain, he may have to see a general doctor, a cardiologist and then the surgeon. But with the institute, he said, communication will be better facilitated, so that the patient may see a cardiologist right away. ▀

Right now, like it or not, there's not a single health-care destination for cardiovascular disease.

DR. JAMES JOYE

$6.3 million in the institute over the next five years, according to Diana Russell, vice president of patient care services. It is projected the hospital would break even financially after almost three years, with a 23 percent return over five years, she said.

"Anything after 2.7 years is a profit," she said.

A new chest pain center, a wound center, a primary preventative care center and a catheterization laboratory — a lab that several patients who were amenable to trying out his new procedure on the leg instead.

"If we can achieve the same results of conventional open bypass but without all the baggage that comes with it with respect to complications, heart attacks, bleeding infections of the wound and things of that nature, and with much less recovery time — that's always the direction that medicine is going," Joye said.

The patient was able to go home the next day and was up and walking right away, Joye said. Traditional bypass would have had him in the hospital for nearly a week, with two to four additional weeks of recovery, he said. ▀

CMG OFFERS THYROID LECTURE

An estimated 27 million Americans have thyroid disease, though more than half don't even know it, according to Camino Medical Group, which is offering a free lecture later this month on the thyroid.

At the lecture, Dr. Todd Kaye will explain the thyroid and describe the symptoms that occur when something goes wrong with this small gland. Kaye says women are seven times more likely to develop thyroid problems, and face as high as a one-in-five chance of developing thyroid problems during their lifetime.

The lecture is Wednesday, Oct. 24, 7-8 p.m. at the Sunnyvale City Council Chambers, 456 West Olive Ave. For more info, call (408) 523-3295.

HOSPITAL TO SPEND $6.5 MILLION FOR ECHO UPGRADES

El Camino Hospital's board has decided to spend another $6.5 million over the next year to upgrade ECHO, the $8 million computerized medical record system installed at the hospital a year ago.

Physicians say they have been frustrated with ECHO's current pharmacy ordering system. While the board agreed the system needs improvement, members wanted a more detailed analysis of where and how it breaks down.

Medicine order errors happen about 20 to 30 times a month, Diana Russell, vice-president of patient care services, said at the meeting.

EL CAMINO TOUTS NEW MEDICAL DEVICES

El Camino Hospital has three new pieces of equipment this year: a "daVinci robotic surgical system," a CO2 laser system and an electrophysiology machine. The high-tech devices were purchased for a total cost of about $2.5 million.

The daVinci robotic surgical system, approved by the FDA for procedures in the chest, abdomen and pelvis, improves minimally invasive surgeries, according to the hospital.

The CO2 laser system, used for cosmetic surgeries and those involving tonsils, the nose, and the larynx, can cut a 4.5 mm hole within seconds — a procedure that previously took minutes, according to the hospital. The robotic laser cost about $142,000 and was purchased from Lumenis, a global medical and cosmetic laser maker. El Camino is one of only two hospitals in the Bay Area to own one.

The electrophysiology machine will be used to better diagnose and treat arrhythmias, a sickness where the heart beats abnormally, according to the hospital. It will be used in the hospital's new electrophysiology department under Dr. Henry Chen, the only electrophysiologist on staff.

Test your knowledge on environmental health

At the Mountain View Art & Wine festival last month, Camino Medical Group sponsored a booth featuring a quiz on environmental issues that relate to health. CMG's Barbara Erny, M.D., created this quiz, which proved so popular we decided to give Voice readers a try at a few of the questions.

Dr. Barbara Erny

Q: Which of the following is found to have the least amount of pesticides?

- Strawberries
- Apples
- Potatoes
- Broccoli

A: You may have guessed potatoes because they grow underground, but a lot of pesticides are used on the plant, and they soak into the ground and potatoes. The correct answer is broccoli. The produce highest in pesticides include: apples, bell peppers, celery, cherries, imported grapes, nectarines, peaches, pears, potatoes, raspberries, spinach and strawberries (which absorb the pesticide).

An "organic" label tells you that, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) standards, the food has been produced without pesticides, synthetic ingredients, bioengineering or ionizing radiation.

Q: True or False: Antibacterial soap cleans your skin better than other "natural" soaps.

A: False. Antibacterial soaps do not clean your skin better than other soaps, nor do they prevent the spread of infection any better, according to a Centers for Disease Control and Prevention study. The chemical (triclosan) found in antibacterial soaps and cleaners causes cancer and harms the environment, and will be outlawed in the next two years.

Q: True or False: The hard plastic "camping" bottles, also known as polycarbonate, are safer to re-use than the softer plastic pre-filled water bottles.

A: False. Plastic #7, used in almost baby bottles, re-usable camping bottles and plastic barware, is made of polycarbonate plastic bisphenol-A, which leaches out as bottles age or are heated. Bisphenol-A is a synthetic chemical which mimics estrogen and can have a variety of harmful effects in the body.

Plastics numbered 1, 2, 4 and 5 (pre-filled water bottles, toddlers' "sippy cups") are safer because they don't leach chemicals into your drinks unless washed in hot water or are otherwise heated (e.g. by the sun).

Note that a "microwave-safe" label on plastic containers only means that they shouldn't melt, crack or fall apart when used in the microwave. These labels do not guarantee that containers don't leach chemicals into foods when heated. Glass and ceramic ware that was not hand-painted are safe choices for microwaving and heating food.

Q: True or False: Microwaving in plastic containers is a safe way to re-heat food.

A: False. Almost all "plastics" contain bisphenol-A and/or phthalates. They can leach into food and water and mimic estrogen, disrupting the hormonal balance in the body. Heating food, especially fatty items, causes more of the toxins to be released. It is important to note that plastic baby bottles contain bisphenol-A.

Q: True or False: Eating Atlantic farmed salmon often is a healthful way to get Omega-3 fatty acids, which are known to help prevent heart disease, among other health benefits.

A: False. Atlantic farmed salmon may contain PCBs, chemicals with serious long-term health effects. One such pollutant is dioxin, which is known to cause cancer in humans.

The Environmental Protection Agency advises that farmed salmon be eaten less than once a month. Comparatively, wild Pacific salmon can be consumed once a week, but Alaskan wild is the least contaminated and can be eaten three times a week. Alternative good sources of Omega-3 fatty acids include flax seed oil, green leafy vegetables, walnuts, eggs and sesame seeds.

This quiz was provided by Barbara Erny, M.D., Camino Medical Group ophthalmologist and long-time environmental health advocate.

GUIDO MAURICE GHERARDI
No. 1-07-PR-162072
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of GUIDO MAURICE GHERARDI.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by:
SOPHIE LE GUEN in the Superior Court of California, County of SANTA CLARA.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that SOPHIE LE GUEN be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.)

The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on November 1, 2007 at 9:00 a.m. in Dept. 15 of the Superior Court of California, Santa Clara County, located at 191 N. First St., San Jose, CA, 95113.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 9100 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.
