

Gift-giving ideas for the techie in your family

This year's shopping secret: accessorize

By Angela Hey

It's time to look for holiday gifts. Have any ideas?

At Radio Shack, in the San Antonio shopping center, sales rep Thor told me that this year there's no New Big Thing that people feel they must have. "This season it's all about finding add-ons and accessories," he said.

Radio Shack had some fun toys for children. The Discovery Kids Long-Range Text Messenger sends messages 300 feet. WowWee Alive stuffed animals — such as baby seals, leopards, lions and tigers — respond to stroking and snore when they go to sleep.

Nintendo's Wii Fit exercise system has plenty of accessories, available at Walmart, Radio Shack, Sears and Best Buy. Tennis racquets, baseball bats, rifles, boxing gloves and steering wheels bring realism to Wii games. Also in San Antonio shopping center, at GameStop, I found a Rob Dyrdek Skateboard that fits on a Wii Balance Board for skateboarding and snowboarding games. (You might just want to upgrade the software to Wii Fit Plus for $20, if you already own a Balance Board.)

The price of memory has come down — so bigger storage cards for cameras and digital picture frames are more affordable this Christmas. If you have a large-screen TV, a Sony Blu-ray DVD player from Sears can be found for $130. Traditional DVD players start at $30.

For elderly relatives or the person who has everything, how about converting some old pictures to DVD? Bed, Bath and Beyond has products used to scan old photos or slides so they can be displayed on a computer or digital photo frame. If you don't want to convert photos yourself, Fotron Photo Lab, at 143 Castro Street, can put your pictures on DVD. They also convert foreign videos to run on U.S. televisions, providing you're not violating copyright restrictions.

The holiday season is a good time to review your home and car locks. Check out Mountain View Door, Inc. at 171 Castro for gift ideas. For the absent-minded spouse, a spare key or electronic entry device for home or car may be useful. How about a spare garage door opener that fits on your key ring? Or maybe you need a digital lock, for house cleaners and guests.

Next door to the shop is the Jehning Family Lock Museum. Besides old keys and safes, it has historic Mountain View photographs, including one of the USS Macon outside Moffett Field's Hangar One.

That reminds me: If you want to splurge, how about giving a flight in Airship Ventures' Zeppelin out of Moffett Field? Trips start at $195.

Back on Earth, massage has gone high-tech. At East West Bookstore, located at 324 Castro, I found a Ting Ting Head Tuner, with vibrating wires to ease scalp tension. A digital Zen alarm clock can wake you with a gentle chime. Or maybe a flittering fairy, guided by a wand, fits the bill for a young girl.

Travelers can find car accessories, such as GPS devices, at Best Buy. At REI, sales rep Gordon told me that the Spot Personal Tracker GPS device can beep a person's location every 10 minutes and is used by parents to keep tabs on their children. GPS devices for geocaching start at about $70, and for cyclists can reach a steep $600.

Have fun, happy shopping and have a wonderful holiday season. □

JOHN (JOHNNY) VISOVICH

John Completed his 86 year life cycle within 1/2 mile of his birth on Grant Road in Mt. View Ca. on Sat. Nov. 28, 2009. His parents Filomena and Anton Viscovich came from the Island of Hvar in Croatia to farm apricots, prunes and cherries in what was then known as "The Valley of Hearts Delight". He actually witnessed the entire metamorphosis into what is now known as the Silicon Valley from many families orchards.

John attended and played football for Mt. View High School. Then came W.W.II where he became a Sgt. in the Armed Forces. He then went on to own with his brother George and wife Kay the popular night club in Los Altos known at the "T & C". He belonged to many local service organizations such as the Mt. View Historical Assn., Napredak Club and the Native Son's of the Golden West. He also was well known for selling Cherries and Christmas trees on the family property on Grant Rd. As a life long 49er season ticket holder he loved traveling to games, especially during the Superbowl years. He leaves his longtime companion June Casey, her children Linda, Mike, Lori and families, brother Charles and wife Roberta, sister-in-law Kay, nieces Karen Miller, Suzanne Arcady, Shawn Ciatelli, and Lisa, nephews Mike, Bill, and Jim and their families.

John also leaves family in Croatia and many, many loving friends.

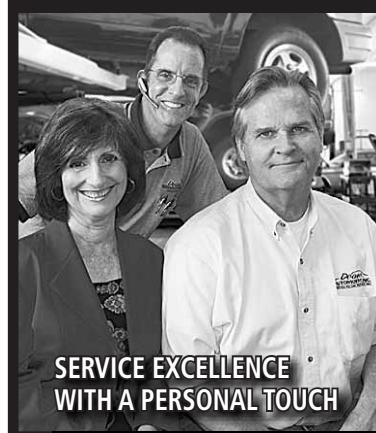

He is preceded in death by Anton, Filomena, sister Eva Sisk, brothers George and Steven. In lieu of flowers donations may be sent to The Parkinson's Institute, 675 Almoner Ave. Sunnyvale, CA 94085.

Viewing will be held December 6th from 4 to 8 at Spangler Mortuary in Mt. View. Grave side Gathering December 7th at Gates of Heaven Cemetery 22555 Cristo Rey Dr., Los Altos at 1pm.
