The turkey is the star, but every good Thanksgiving show depends on a great supporting cast. The mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, sweet potatoes and green bean casseroles accompanying the big bird are often the most delicious and memorable parts of the day's dinner.

What are the side dishes that make the Thanksgiving meal? A few area chefs, grocers and other foodies agreed to share the dishes that make their holiday productions a hit.

Cindy Roberts, who teaches "The Ultimate Thanksgiving" class for Palo Alto Adult School, combines traditional and contemporary ingredients in recipes that reflect her experiences studying cooking in the Bay Area and at the Cordon Bleu in France.

"I want to teach home chefs to create extraordinary things at home," she said. "The class is inspired by the thought that this is one meal of the year when families come together and they're really expecting a home-cooked meal."

Her class and her family dinner are filled with unusual dishes.

Cranberry Orange Chutney*Recipe by Cindy Roberts*

24 oz. fresh cranberries
 2 C. water
 3 C. granulated sugar
 1 large pippin or tart baking apple, chopped finely

1 navel orange
 3 T. candied ginger, chopped finely
 3 t. red pepper flakes
 1/2 C. golden raisins

- 1) Prepare the orange: Zest the entire orange. Squeeze the juice from the orange with a juicer and set aside the juice and zest.
- 2) Heat the water and sugar together until the sugar is just dissolved.
- 3) Add cranberries, apples, orange zest and orange juice to the sugar water. Stir constantly to ensure fruit is continually covered with water. Cook at a high temperature until the berries pop.
- 4) Reduce the heat to medium. Continue to cook until a foam appears, stirring occasionally, about 5 minutes.

- 5) Add the candied ginger and cook for another 5 minutes longer to soften the ginger and release the flavor.
- 6) Add the red pepper flakes.
- 7) Turn off the heat. Add the golden raisins. Sample the chutney and adjust sugar and peppers to taste.

Store the chutney into a glass jar. This will last two weeks in the refrigerator. Remove from the refrigerator and serve at room temperature. Note: This can also be frozen for use at a much later date.

es such as shiitake mushroom gravy, cranberry orange chutney and mashed potatoes with chilies and jack cheese. Roberts' recipes come from a variety of sources, including family specialties and culinary magazines.

Her personal favorite is potatoes gratin with porcini mushrooms and mascarpone cheese.

"It incorporates one of the traditional elements of Thanksgiving — potatoes, but with an Italian twist. It's not so far off tradition, so it's appropriate, but it also appeals to the people who have more eccentric palates."

Scott Nishiyama, executive chef at Chez TJ in Mountain View, likes to stick with the basics.

"It is a traditional time when we don't want to stray from the comfort food that everyone enjoys," he said. His favorite dish is gravy, which he always makes from scratch.

"The key to a good gravy is making a nice aromatic broth

According to chef Scott Nishiyama, the key to a good gravy is making a nice aromatic broth from poultry bones and giblets, using lots of fresh vegetables.

The Ultimate Whole Turkey Feast (shown with suggested serving ideas).

from poultry bones and giblets, using lots of fresh vegetables," he said. "You have to simmer it a long time. It's one of those things you can't rush."

He then makes a roux with butter and flour, cooks it until it is nice and brown and then slowly adds the stock, stirring so it is smooth.

Another fan of traditional sides is Sarah Kottmeier, event coordinator at Catering by the Other Woman in Menlo Park.

"I could pass on the turkey, but I love mashed potatoes with gravy," she said. "And they have to have lots of butter and cream."

It's not surprising that Antonio Flores Lopez, executive chef at Cascal in Mountain View, likes to add a little Latin flavor to his Thanksgiving dinner. He usually hosts a large family get-together, roasting two or three turkeys braised in a sangria mixture of red wine, sugar and juice, stuffed with zucchini, breadcrumbs and chorizo. He serves the turkey with a mole verde sauce made with pumpkin seeds, jalapeños, cilantro, green onions and peppers.

His family's favorite dish is the same every year: dessert. They always serve Lopez's signature pumpkin cheesecake that also appears on the menu at Cascal every year at this time.

A lucky accident led Charlie Ayers, chef at Calafia Café in Palo Alto, to create his favorite Thanksgiving side dish.

"Years ago when I was at Google, we ran out of a side dish for that day's service, so I threw together some random ingredients," he said. His butternut chilijack recipe was a huge hit and is included in his cookbook, "Food 2.0."

"It's a wonderful, balanced, savory dish that combines butternut squash, corn, jalapeño, pepper jack cheese and cilantro baked in a casserole. The end result is yummy, creamy, full-mouthed happiness."

Ayers also has a favorite holiday recipe for vegans.

"I make a Swiss chard dish with almond butter, mustard seeds, turmeric, chili flakes, onions and a touch of lime pureed and folded into the chard. The taste fools your brain into thinking you're having dairy products."

The favorite of Craig Kozy, owner of DeMartini Orchard in Los Altos, is reflective of the season's bounty of fresh produce.

"My favorite side dish is green beans with slivered almonds. It's straight tradition," he said.

Kozy's preference may have more to do with commerce than cuisine.

"I sell a lot of beans this holiday." ▣

MILK PAIL MARKET
"The heartwarming little store that has everything"

A EUROPEAN STYLE OPEN-AIR MARKET

Why is it hard to find local products in big stores?

Big Stores are MARKETING GIANTS, but Do they make anything? What they do is find HUGE companies that have production capacity, and then those production companies make STORE BRAND products for the MARKETING GIANTS. It's not likely that Costco has a winery where Kirkland branded wine is produced, or Walmart has a soda pop factory, or Whole Foods owns a Soy Milk Plant. Even Trader Joe would be hard to find making Pasta in his own plant in Italy. The Milk Pail believes in being real... we believe in allowing hard working owners of small food factories the chance to market their own products under their own label at our store!

Gifts of good taste

Ideas for the foodies on your list — whether they love to cook or just eat

By Kathy Cordova

Uncle Ted, Nanna and your third cousin already have enough neckties and slippers. So here's another thought: Most everyone loves to eat and lots of people love to cook or entertain, so why not give gifts of good taste this holiday? Whether you're buying for chefs, party hosts or anyone who loves food, local shops offer an array of epicurean selections.

Maria's France-Italy-England in Stanford Shopping Center stocks imported ceramics, table linens and accessories to imbue a European feel to any dining experience. Deborah Believeau, visual merchandising manager, has noticed a trend among shoppers this year.

VIVIAN WONG

"People are being more creative," she said. "Cookbooks are big. People like fun items that don't cost much. They want good quality for their money."

Believeau suggests combining items to create custom gifts, like giving a homemade cake on a hand-painted cake plate or a vino carafe with a bottle of wine. Maria's also sells a wide variety of gifts, including illustrated cookbooks, such as "500 Italian Recipes" for $19.99, or a set of six dessert plates decorated with Parisian landmarks for $180.

Also at Stanford, and in Redwood City, Sigona's Farmers Market offers specialty foods ranging from fresh-pressed olive oil to locally produced cheeses such as the Moo-Na Lisa, from Central Coast Creamery. Many of these gifts can be thoughtfully paired by the market's staff and custom packed into gift baskets, said Carmelo Sigona, president of Sigona's.

Want just the right sauce to go with whole wheat pasta? How about a tasty cheese to complement locally grown apples? The cost is $15 to customize a basket, plus the cost of the basket and the products.

Also of note, Sigona said, are the market's olive oils. They're so popular, customers buy $6,000 worth of olive oil each week.

"They're flying off the shelves," Sigona said.

The reason is that the olives are pressed within three to six hours of being picked, and the oil is bottled at the stores so it doesn't start to degrade sitting too long in the bottle, he said. With varieties of olive oil from across the globe, Sigona's oils boast all sorts of tones, from fruity to buttery. Bottles of 750 ml cost $14.99.

For gifts with a Mediterranean flair, Mountain View's Casablanca Market offers gourmet foods from Morocco and Spain, Moroccan glassware and ceramics and cooking classes. Distinctive selections include their ceramic tagine pots ($25-$89), used for traditional Moroccan slow-cooking, and colorful Morgana gold-mix tea glasses ($38 for a set of six).

For the sweet tooth on your list, Monique's Chocolates in Palo Alto sells handmade chocolate truffles with special holiday flavors such as eggnog and peppermint ($2 per truffle or $24 for 10 truffles in a gift box).

Want a gift that also benefits a good cause? The Artisan Shop in the Allied Arts Guild in Menlo Park sells one-of-a-kind items created by Bay Area craftspeople, with all profits going to the Lucile Packard Children's Hospital. Cesare Reyneri from Los Altos is one of their featured artists, offering a carved spalted oak bowl ($75) and wine stoppers with carved wooden tops ($30). Iridescent blue coasters made from recycled glass ($40) are an ecologically friendly gift idea.

If luxury is on your list, Neiman Marcus' gourmet gift section offers a variety of delicapacities and to-die-for hostess gifts. There is the traditional fruitcake ($30), the biscotti cookie hamper — a festively ribboned wicker basket filled with an assortment of breakfast cookies ($65) — and a four-cake sampler with chocolate champagne, Amaretto, Irish whiskey and lemon vodka confections ($32).

Neiman Marcus' home gifts are traditionally over-the-top. Consider the 14-karat gold-plated, pagoda-shaped salt-and-pepper shakers adorned with freshwater pearls and Swarovski® crystals ($195) or the set of two Baccarat champagne flutes ($260).

For those on a tighter budget, Neiman Marcus has created "Little Gems," offering fun gift ideas for $100 or less, including a gorgeous, illustrated "Vintage Cocktails" book ($50) with vibrant photos exploring the art of making drinks.

To make your own sodas and fizzy waters at home, Los Altos Cook's Junction recommends The SodaStream Soda Maker ($89.99-$199.99).

"It is one of our top sellers," owner Linda Janes said. "We sell lots of different types of syrups, and it is good for the environment since the sodas don't have to be shipped and you reuse your own bottles at home."

One consistent destination spot for home chefs is Sur la Table in the Town & Country Village shopping center in Palo Alto, where a display of brightly colored small appliances greets customers at the door.

The seven-speed hand mixer ($49.95), the mini food processor ($39.95) and the immersion blender ($29.95) in colors such as lime green, cherry red and sunshine yellow make gifts with electrical cords cool.

The coffee area features "the ultimate coffee maker," according to David Pavot, store manager. At $2,999.95, the Jura® Impressa Z7, is not cheap, but the convenience of making 11 different kinds of fancy coffee drinks at the touch of a button have led local aficionados to make Pavot's store the top seller of the Z7 in the country.

Along with great tools to inspire the home chef, Sur la Table offers an array of classes held in their professional kitchen most evenings and weekends — a gift sure to kick off a delicious new year. ▣

Advertising: Multimedia Sales
The Palo Alto Weekly and Embarcadero Media are seeking smart, articulate and dedicated experienced and entry-level sales professionals who are looking for a fast-paced and dynamic work environment of people committed to producing outstanding journalism and effective marketing for local businesses.

You will join our staff of talented journalists, designers, web programmers and sales people in our brand new "green" Palo Alto headquarters building in the vibrant California Ave. business district.

As a Multimedia Account Executive, you will contact and work with local businesses to expand their brand identity and support their future success using marketing and advertising opportunities available through our 3 marketing platforms: print campaigns, website advertising and email marketing.

The ideal candidate is an organized and assertive self-starter who loves working as a team to beat sales goals and possesses strong verbal, written, persuasive and listening interpersonal skills and can provide exceptional customer service.

Duties, responsibilities and skills include:

- * Understands that the sales process is more than taking orders
- * Has a strong understanding of how consumers use the Internet
- * Can effectively manage and cover a geographic territory of active accounts while constantly canvassing competitive media and the market for new clients via cold calling
- * Can translate customer marketing objectives into creative and effective multi-media advertising campaigns
- * Ability to understand and interpret marketing data to effectively overcome client objections
- * Understands the importance of meeting deadlines in an organized manner
- * Can manage and maintain client information in our CRM database system, is proficient in Microsoft Word and Excel and has knowledge of the Internet and social media
- * Ability to adapt objectives, sales approaches and behaviors in response to rapidly changing situations and to manage business in a deadline-driven environment

Compensation includes base salary plus commission, health benefits, vacation, 401k and a culture where employees are respected, supported and given the opportunity to grow.

To apply, submit a personalized cover letter and complete resume to

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: EDWARD GREGORY ALTOUNEY, EDWARD G. ALTOUNEY, EDWARD ALTOUNEY
Case No.: 1-10-PR-167520
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of EDWARD GREGORY ALTOUNEY, EDWARD G. ALTOUNEY, EDWARD ALTOUNEY. A Petition for Probate has been filed by: UNION BANK, N.A. in the Superior Court of California, County of SANTA CLARA.
The Petition for Probate requests that: UNION BANK, N.A. be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.
The petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.
The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on December 2, 2010 at 9:00 a.m. in Dept.: 3 of the Superior Court of California, County of Santa Clara, located at 191 N. First St., San Jose, CA, 95113.
If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.
Attorney for Petitioner: /s/ Jennifer H. Friedman (SBN: 195475) 1100 Alma Street, Suite 210 Menlo Park, California 94025 (650)324-9300 (Voice Nov. 12, 19, 26, 2010)
