Los Altos High School seniors celebrate graduating after the commencement ceremony ends, Friday, June 3.

'Magical' class of 2011

LOS ALTOS HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS ACADEMIC CAREER BOOK-ENDED BY HARRY POTTER SERIES

By Nick Veronin

Unseasonably dreary weather couldn't darken the mood of Los Altos High School's 2011 graduating class, who made up for the lack of blue skies at their commencement ceremony last Friday by donning bright cerulean caps and gowns, and hearing a series of optimistic speeches given by students, faculty and district administration.

About 344 Los Altos seniors marched up into the bleachers lining the east side of Tom Burt Field and the encircling Leo Long Track at about 6:15 p.m. on June 3, to bid farewell to their alma mater, as family and friends looked on.

"High school wasn't a perfect experience for all of us," said Erika Schonher, graduating senior and mistress of ceremonies. She surmised that many in her graduating class had suffered from "broken bones, broken hearts" or "broken dreams" — maybe even all three — during their four years in high school.

And yet, even though some of her painful experiences may still sting, Schonher remained positive about moving forward. "Embarrassment," she said, "is nothing but the beginning of a funny story."

Principal Wynne Satterwhite kicked off the ceremony with a speech recalling the very first Harry Potter book, published back in June of 1997, when most in the class of 2011 were on cusp of entering kindergarten. With the final movie being released in July, the series of fantasy books and films fits almost perfectly over the graduating class' time in elementary, middle and high school. Satterwhite thought it fitting to reflect on a few of her favorite passages from the novels, which follow a group of budding sorcerers learning the ins and outs of hocus-pocus during their formative years at the Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry.

"We don't study magic here," Satterwhite acknowledged. Even so, the material she quoted from J.K. Rowling's books was no less poignant.

Moving through a series of quotes — "It takes a great deal of courage to stand up to your enemies, but it takes a great deal more to stand up to your friends," and, "It does not do well to dwell on the dreams of others" — Satterwhite told the class that they will face many hard choices down the road, but that they should not let the fear of making a wrong choice prevent them from moving forward with purpose. "Select wisely," she said, "but select."

Savoring the moment

SENIORS AT MOUNTAIN VIEW HIGH TRY NOT TO SWEAT THE FUTURE

By Nick Veronin

Mountain View High School's 2011 senior class is aware that they are graduating into uncertain times. The economy is still faltering, the job market is shaky and the price of a higher education is growing each year.

"We have spent four years waiting for this night," graduating senior Sonia Ibrahimkhail said in a speech to her fellow classmates. "But I think I can speak on behalf of this entire graduating class when I say that we are scared. Overwhelmed. Wishing it hadn't gone by so quickly."

But as (number) students of the 2011 class, clad in black caps and gowns, took to the bleachers at Carl Anderson Field for their commencement ceremony, speakers Ibrahimkhail and William Beare encouraged their fellow classmates to put aside concerns about what tomorrow may bring, at least for the night.

"Let's stop worrying about the future and how successful we want to be," Ibrahimkhail said. "Let's get carried away and caught up in this wonderful feeling of great achievement."

Beare, who co-wrote the speech with Ibrahimkhail, said that he wanted to deliver a speech that was positive, without sounding trite or naive. Though he knows the world is in the midst of a particularly trying period, he believes that the education he received at Mountain View High School will give him the tools to tackle any challenge he comes across.

"I am incredibly grateful to go to a school like Mountain View High School," Beare said. "It was a great place to grow up and a great place to get a high school education."

That said, Beare says he does think about the state of the economy. "It's important for every high school graduate to be realistic about the world they are coming into," he said. "I feel fear as a person who is involved in the rest of the world." But, as far as his future is concerned, he feels secure.

Beare's positive outlook even extended to the gray clouds which hung over the graduation ceremony. With friends and family in the Pacific Northwest that he visits on a regular basis, and because of his appreciation of the mild temperatures often experienced in the Bay Area, Beare said he was almost glad that the sun didn't make an appearance, as it would have made his all-black wardrobe

ALTA VISTA HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS, GRADUATES
WORK HARD TO GET BACK ON TRACK

By Nick Veronin

Bill Pierce, principal of Alta Vista High School, always keeps a tissue box handy during his school's graduation ceremony. That's because Pierce, along with the rest of the faculty at Alta Vista, invest a great amount of time and sweat every year getting their students back on track.

"It's hugely rewarding," Pierce said of this year's graduation, held June 1 at Mountain View High School's Spartan Theatre.

Pierce is not the only one who is moved by the ceremony each year. Though graduating seniors at Mountain View-Los Altos Union High School District's continuation school may not be bound for Ivy League schools, many in the class of 2011 do have college plans. That, in and of

"It is not our abilities that show who we truly are," Satterwhite quoted Rowling, "It is our choices."

Just as Harry Potter lived for 11 years in a world completely unlike that which he would enter upon his admittance to Hogwarts, senior speaker Yareli Flores, though born in America, lived in Mexico and began her freshman year at Los Altos speaking no English.

Flores credited her family and her teachers — whom she referred to as her "second family" — pushing her to do her best. Like

Harry Potter, Flores excelled at her studies and she is headed to college.

Another student speaker, Carolyn Yang, thanked her parents and her teachers for guiding her through four years of learning and self discovery. Yang said she would surely feel a bit sad leaving her hometown behind to go off to college, but, like Schonher, her enthusiasm for her next stage in life was palpable:

"We will take the world by storm, class of 2011!"

Satterwhite shared the graduates' excitement.

"It has been a pleasure to work with this class," she said. "Class of 2011, you are truly magical!" ■ itself, is an achievement worthy of celebration, he said.

“In many respects, these are kids who weren’t supposed to make it,” Pierce said. “Not only did they make it, but they have a great launching pad to move forward.”

Many students show up at Alta Vista more than a year behind, and some come from families where no one has yet earned a diploma, Pierce said. Still, more than 80 percent of students in this year’s graduating class of 56 students have college plans of some kind.

For these reasons, Pierce said, the Alta Vista commencement ceremony is always emotionally charged. Additionally, because the small size of the graduating class, graduating seniors are asked to write a short address.

These speeches are read by Alta Vista teachers at the ceremony before each student is officially presented a diploma.

The highly individualized graduation ceremony is consistent with how the school operates on the whole. “Our teachers are tenacious,” Pierce said. “To the extent that they are able, they will not let a student fail.”

The list of Alta Vista grads will run in next week’s Voice, or check mv-voice.com ■

Multimedia Advertising Sales

The Palo Alto Weekly and Embarcadero Media are seeking smart, articulate and dedicated experienced and entry-level sales professionals who are looking for a fast-paced and dynamic work environment of people committed to producing outstanding journalism and effective marketing for local businesses.

You will join our staff of talented journalists, designers, web programmers and sales people in our brand new "green" Palo Alto headquarters building in the vibrant California Ave. business district.

As a Multimedia Account Executive, you will contact and work with local businesses to expand their brand identity and support their future success using marketing and advertising opportunities available through our 3 marketing platforms: print campaigns, website advertising & email marketing.

The ideal candidate is an organized and assertive self-starter who loves working as a team to beat sales goals and possesses strong verbal, written, persuasive and listening interpersonal skills and can provide exceptional customer service.

Duties, responsibilities and skills include:

- * Understands that the sales process is more than taking orders
- * Has a strong understanding of how consumers use the Internet
- * Can effectively manage and cover a geographic territory of active accounts while constantly canvassing competitive media and the market for new clients via cold calling
- * Can translate customer marketing objectives into creative and effective multi-media advertising campaigns
- * Ability to understand and interpret marketing data to effectively overcome client objections
- * Understands the importance of meeting deadlines in an organized manner
- * Can manage and maintain client information in our CRM database system, is proficient in Microsoft Word and Excel and has knowledge of the Internet and social media

* Ability to adapt objectives, sales approaches and behaviors in response to rapidly changing situations and to manage business in a deadline-driven environment

Compensation includes base salary plus commission, health benefits, vacation, 401k and a culture where employees are respected, supported and given the opportunity to grow.

To apply, submit a personalized cover letter and complete resume to arenalds@embarcaderopublishing.com
