Authentic Italian cooking gets a polished update at iTalico

■ RESTAURANT REVIEW

If Italian comfort food brings to mind that wayward bit of marinara sauce splattering on a checkered tablecloth as you twirl a few strands of spaghetti, you might need an update.

At iTalico, California Avenue's new Italian addition to its growing restaurant repertoire, comfort has an edge. The place has the polish and finesse of an upscale restaurant but still has the feel of a favorite neighborhood joint, the kind of place you'd take the family when you don't feel like cooking on a weekday night. It's friendly and casual but with a decided air of sophistication.

It starts with the big smiles and cheery “buona sera” that greet patrons as they approach the counter, just inside the restaurant’s glass-paneled doors. There’s the buzz of animated conversations, the aroma of hearty food cooking in a corner fireplace imported from Italy, the bustle of good-looking waiters plying customers with earthy red wine and sparkling prosecco.

Brothers Franco and Maico Campilongo, owners of the very successful Terún a block away from iTalico, took over the space from the short-lived Fire, Oak & Barley, which closed last April. After making “a few cosmetic touches” to the completely renovated building, iTalico opened with a small but select menu in mid-July.

The Campilongos named their first restaurant Terun, a term that refers disparagingly to someone from southern Italy. The name iTalico comes from an ancient Greek word, “Italói,” used to define the natives from Calabria in the southern peninsula of Italy, which is where the brothers grew up.

The place is already popular with foodies who gush over the pecorino with truffles from Sardinia or smile knowingly at the Fra’ Mani salame nostrano that’s been handcrafted in Berkeley. Unlike some of Palo Alto’s more trendy, ingredient-conscious culinary havens, however, the menu is presented in a straightforward, unfussy manner. It’s all decidedly Italian in flavors and atmosphere but brought up to date with a modern sensibility that is oh-so-easy to digest.

Meals include wood-fired, oven-baked small plates and entrees, pastas, salads and risotto. There are filling, enticing appetizers like gently sautéed golden chanterelle mushrooms heaped over crusty grilled bread ($13) or broccolo gratinato ($12), baked broccoli and potatoes smothered in cheese sauce and topped with crisp seasoned bread crumbs. There’s the fagioli e bietola ($12), silky white cannellini beans mixed with Swiss chard and cheese.

Salads are far simpler, such as tangy, fresh arugula drizzled with vinaigrette and tossed with walnuts, fava beans, green apple slices and shaved Parmesan ($12). Two or three of these generous starters, plus wine and bread, make a plentiful meal on their own.

Diners are encouraged to mix and match a small but select assortment of salumi and cheeses ($9 for one selection, $30 for four), nicely presented on boards and accompanied by tiny tastes of marinated white beans, honey, olives and walnuts. We feasted on a platter of pork sausage coppa sliced paper-thin and deep red beef bresaola with slabs of fantastically creamy Taleggio from Lombardy and Grana Padano from Parma. With a glass of wine and slices of rustic bread dipped in olive oil and balsamic vinegar, you can come pretty close to reenacting an indolent repast from some charming bistro in Bova overlooking the Ionian coastline.

Main courses include one each of meat, veal, chicken and fish, and a nice variety of classic pastas. Ossobuco ($29) was fall-off-the-bone tender and served over a puddle of creamy polenta. The lasagne verdi ($20), one of the few vegetarian offerings on the meat-heavy menu, featured a large slab of pasta layered with spinach and peas embedded in a dense cheese sauce and topped with some unnecessary béchamel. Rigatoni ($19), also oversized, was sauced with pea pesto and loaded with bits of pancetta.

A few oven-cooked dishes were not heated thoroughly when they arrived at our table, and I found some to be a bit heavy-handed with the cheese and too wimpy on the spices and seasonings. Servings are extremely generous — another reminder of the big portions typical of neighborhood Italian restaurants — and toting home your box of leftovers should work off a few of the calories from the indulgent sauces and silky pastas.

It's worth suffering a little more hedonism for dessert, especially the trifle ($10), a cup of sponge cake sprinkled with berries and saturated with creams of every sort, and the stupendous salted caramel gelato drizzled with olive oil ($8).

iTalico serves only draft beer and wine, but much effort has gone into its 20-page wine list. There's an emphasis on Italian reds, of course, with a nice variety of off-the-beaten-track nebbiolos, Brunellos, barberas and sangioveses, as well as a range of dessert wines. Prices are on the high side, with only about five bottles offered under $40. Generous pours of single glasses run $12 to $18.

So what is it about iTalico that stands out? Well, pretty much everything. Service is polished without being snooty. The owners make it a point to stop by every table to chat, learn their customers' names and share their obvious pleasure in food, wine and all things Italian. Their enthusiasm, creativity and charm energize the dining room and complement the flavors that emanate from the busy kitchen.

It's not perfect by any means: The room can get quite loud, and I'm not fond of the distraction of a large-screen TV over the bar in a restaurant that purports to emulate bona-fide Italian dining. But those are quibbles about a vibrant addition to the Palo Alto food scene. iTalico is energetic and stylish, and it excels in regional Italian food, wine and service. ■

'Strange'-r Things

BENEDICT CUMBERBATCH PLAYS MARVEL'S MYSTICAL SUPERHERO

★★★ (Century 16 & 20)

Back in 1963, Marvel's Stan Lee and Steve Ditko cheekily introduced Doctor Strange "quietly and without fanfare" as "a different kind of super-hero." And now 53 years later, Marvel Studios has embraced that difference to make the "master of the mystic arts" a welcome addition to the sprawling Marvel Cinematic Universe. "Doctor Strange" leads us on a magical mystery tour that's both familiar and ... strange.

Benedict Cumberbatch ("Sherlock") plays Dr. Stephen Strange, a neurosurgeon marked by "stubbornness, arrogance, ambition." When an accident afflicts his hands with nerve damage, Strange loses his grip not only on his scalpel but his sense of self. His search for healing leads him to Kathmandu and a secret temple called Kamar-Taj, presided over by the powerful sorceress The Ancient One (Tilda Swinton).

Her trusted charge Karl Mordo (Chiwetel Ejiofor) tells Strange, "Forget everything you think you know," good preparation for the mandala of mystical wisdom about to blossom before him. The Ancient One instructs Strange in the true nature of our infinite multiverse, including an astral dimension, mirror dimension, and (uh oh) dark dimension. Naturally, that last bit proves entirely too tempting to the story's villain, The Ancient One's wayward former pupil Kaecilius (Mads Mikkelsen).

Director Scott Derrickson ("Sinister") presides over this epic adventure with a sure hand. In many ways, it's superhero boilerplate: an origin story (with more than a little in common with the dramatic trajectory of "Iron Man"), super-charged fight scenes, and a race to save the world. But "Doctor Strange" looks at urban architecture through a twisting digital kaleidoscope, next-stepping from "Inception" to an M.C. Escher-esque action aesthetic that amounts to three-dimensional chess.

Given that the film also briefly evokes the mind-bending of "2001: A Space Odyssey" as its hero learns to elevate his mind and deepen his spirit, "Doctor Strange" delivers the goods of dazzling spectacle that have become the guaranteed currency of modern movie going. The special effects artistry here indeed qualifies as special, bolstered by 3-D that feels necessary to the experience (and this movie must be a heck of a thing in IMAX 3-D).

None of that would matter a whit without a certain amount of compelling characterization. Cumberbatch turns in a smart, centered performance, and he's well supported by a skilled ensemble (also including Rachel McAdams as surgeon/love interest Christine Palmer and Benedict Wong as librarian sorcerer Wong). Above all, "Doctor Strange" overcomes its genre clichés by winningly exploiting pop psychology and New Age spirituality, particularly in identifying "fear of death" as the ultimate motivator (Kaecilius identifies time as "the true enemy of us all").

Of course, the successful launch of "Doctor Strange" also serves to prime audiences for upcoming Marvel adventures (mostly by use of the mid-credits and post-credits bonus scenes). As the credits promise, "Doctor Strange will return," and I have a feeling audiences will be happy to see him again.

Rated PG-13 for sci-fi violence and action throughout, and an intense crash sequence. One hour, 55 minutes.

EROTIC THRILLER 'THE HANDMAIDEN' HAS TRICKS UP ITS SLEEVE

★★★ 1/2 (Aquarius)

Some of the best filmmakers "fetishize" their art and, in doing so, invite their viewers to do the same. Park Chan-wook embodies that rare type of precision filmmaker whose every shot seems perfectly orchestrated and framed, whose every edit seems to have been worked out even before the sets were built or the actors hired. And yet Chan-wook's erotic thriller "The Handmaiden" — with its story that, not coincidentally, deals with fetishes — never feels lifelessly premeditated; rather, we realize, early and often, that we are in very sure hands.

The filmmaker of "Oldboy" and "Lady Venegance" here applies himself to adapting Sarah Waters' 2002 novel

"Fingersmith." Along with co-screenwriter Chung Seo-kyung, Park transplants the story from Victorian-era London to 1930s colonial Korea, where a con man calling himself Count Fujiwara

'THE HANDMAIDEN'

(Ha Jung-woo) enlists a female pickpocket named Nam Sookee (Kim Tae-ri) as part of a plot to convince Japanese heiress Lady Izumi Hideko (Min-hee Kim) to marry him.

Hideko lives a life of quiet desperation in the sprawling East-meets-West mansion of her creepy Uncle Kouzuki (Cho Jin-woong), a book collector with pronounced fetishes of his own, ones that are not entirely bibliophilic in nature. Count Fujiwara intends a slow but sure seduction of Hideko, abetted by Sookee's whispers in his favor. But the plot thickens when Hideko and Sookee fall into each other's arms, the first of many surprises in an ever-unfolding plot.

"The Handmaiden" veers into a rather soulful love story, though a central theme of duplicity keeps us guessing. The women's alchemic interest in each other also benefits from a social imperative, a feminist desire. It's a story of power plays, the power men wield over women or can offer to them ("The man who loves you has the power to protect you"), the power women have over men (who Park depicts as rendered dumbstruck by arousal), and the power moves women inflict on each other, among other dynamics (literal power outages in the mansion draw attention to the characters' figurative power outages and surges).

Park also slyly investigates the intersection of pain and pleasure, and the desperate desire to escape social imprisonment, encapsulated in an image of Hideko seen through a tangled web of tree branches. The image also serves the point for which Park reserves his keenest interest: storytelling. When the non-linear plot turns back on itself, subtle variations in the performances by the role-playing characters reflect different narrative points of view on key events.

Those waiting for Park to bust out with kink and violence will eventually get what they came for, but "The Handmaiden" proves more deeply felt than prurient, a testament to a terrific cast and a cunning director. Every shot, every sequence is designed to perfection and executed just as well, with the insinuating cinematography of Chung Chung-hoon, brilliant art direction by Ryu Seong-hie, and the limber, string-based score of Cho Young-wuk all serving a conspicuously crafty tale.

Not MPAA rated. Two hours, 24 minutes.

NOTICE OF AVAILABILITY OF A DRAFT MITIGATED NEGATIVE DECLARATION AND NOTICE OF INTENT TO ADOPT A MITIGATED NEGATIVE DECLARATION
For the Crittenden Middle School Track and Field / Permanente Creek Trail Extension Project

Notice. Notice is hereby given that the Mountain View Whisman School District, acting as lead agency under the California Environmental Quality Act, intends to adopt a Mitigated Negative Declaration and approve and carry out the proposed project.

Description. The proposed project is the construction of a new approximately 123,000 sq. ft. track and field facility, removal of 14 mature redwoods, and an approximately 900-foot-long asphalt trail extension at the Crittenden Middle School, in Mountain View, Santa Clara County. The track and field uses would be football, soccer, and track and field by the school and community. Hours of use and lighting would remain about the same as current field operations. Construction is projected to start in January 2017 and be completed by November 2017.

Potential Impacts. The proposed project has the potential to impact the following environmental factors: aesthetic/visual, air quality, archaeological/historical, biological resources, drainage/absorption, geology and soils, noise, public services/facilities, recreation/parks, schools/universities, sewer capacity, soil erosion/compaction/grading, toxic/hazardous, traffic/circulation, hydrology and water quality. With implementation of the mitigation measures identified, potentially significant impacts would be reduced to less than significant. The proposed project would not make a cumulatively considerable contribution to an existing cumulative impact related to similar projects within the region. The site is not on any of the lists enumerated under Government Code § 65962.5.

Availability. The proposed Mitigated Negative Declaration is available for review at the following locations from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., weekdays

Mountain View Whisman School District

<http://www.greystonewest.com/>

Persons interested in reviewing or receiving the documents may contact Theresa Novotny at: (707) 933-0624.

Adoption and Approval. The District intends to consider adopting the mitigated negative declaration and approving the project at its December 8, 2016 Board meeting.

The public comment period on the proposed Mitigated Negative Declaration begins on October 28, 2016 and ends on November 28, 2016. Comments must be timely received in writing by November 28, 2016 at 12:00 p.m. No late comments will be considered.

MOUNTAIN VIEW VOICE

'OUR TOWN'

Named "the greatest American play ever written," Thornton Wilder's dramatization of small-town life tells the story of young lovers George and Emily — and their families, friends and neighbors — as they grow up, fall in love and discover the darker side of life in Grover's Corners. Nov. 5-18, 8 p.m.; Nov. 6, 2 p.m. $10. The Lohman Theatre, 12345 El Monte Road, Los Altos Hills.

THEATER

'The Ballad of Phineas McBoof' Phineas McBoof, the great rockstar monkey, leaves behind fame and fortune and hops on a rowboat with his guitar, launching a journey that leads to a whole new world of music and friendship. This musical is a world premier commissioned by the Palo Alto Children's Theatre and written and scored by Doctor Noize. Nov. 3-13, times vary. $10, children; $12, adults. Palo Alto Children's Theatre, 1305 Middlefield Road, Palo Alto. cityofpaloalto.org

'The Crucible' Gunn High School Theatre presents "The Crucible" by Arthur Miller, an allegorical play about the Salem Witch Trials and the Red Scare in the 1950s. Nov. 3, opening night gala, 6:30 p.m. Nov. 4, 5, 10-12, 7:30 p.m.; Nov. 9, matinee, 4 p.m. $25, opening; $10, students; $15, general; $5, matinee. Gunn High School, 780 Arastradero Road, Palo Alto. gunntheatre.org/2016-2017-shows

'Major Barbara' by George Bernard Shaw George Bernard Shaw's classic "Major Barbara" is a thought-provoking look at human nature, morality, and social engineering. Coming at the height of the election season, "Major Barbara" shines the light of Shaw's analytical wit on serious questions that continue to impact the state of the union. Oct. 28-Nov. 30, times vary. The Pear Theatre, 1110 La Avenida, Mountain View. thepear.org

Palo Alto Players: 'The Diary of Anne Frank' An impassioned drama about the lives of eight people hiding from the Nazis in a concealed storage attic, "The Diary of Anne Frank" captures the claustrophobic realities of their daily existence — their fear, hope, laughter and grief — bringing Anne's words to life for a new generation. Nov. 5-20, Thursdays, 7:30 p.m.; Fridays-Saturdays, 8 p.m.; Sundays, 2 p.m. $25-$52. Lucie Stern Theatre, 1305 Middlefield Road, Palo Alto. paplayers.org

CONCERTS

Potsdam Revisited — Centerpiece This event of film and live music will transport the audience back to July 1945 when, amid the ruins of Berlin, Harry Truman, Winston Churchill and Josef Stalin paused to listen to 19-year-old GI Stuart Canin play his violin. After watching the documentary "The Rifleman's Violin," the violinist Mr. Canin and pianist HÉÈÈne Wickert will reprise the private concert Canin gave the Big Three. Hoover Institution Senior Fellow Norman Naimark will facilitate a post-concert discussion with Canin and documentarian Sam Ball of Citizen Film, followed by a reception. Nov. 12, 6:30-8 p.m. $40. Oshman Family JCC, 3921 Fabian Way, Palo Alto.

The Winds of Autumn The National Association of Composers presents a chamber music concert, which will feature "Nora's Waltz," a composition by Los Altos resident and music teacher, Sondra Clar; "Tall Trees," about giant California redwoods; and a composition by John Beeman, a longtime music teacher in the Los Altos School District, among other pieces. Nov. 12, 8-10 p.m. $15, students/seniors; $20, general. Foothills Congregational Church, 461 Orange Ave., Los Altos.

MUSIC

Native American Indian Flute Class Viviana Guzman will lead a Native American Indian Flute Class. Participants are asked to bring their own flute or to purchase one in the class. Nov. 6, 13 and 20, 5 p.m.-6:30 p.m. $35, per class; $99, all three classes. Native American Indian Flute Class, 12853 Normandy Lane, Los Altos Hills. viviana.org

Open Mic Open Mic takes place every Monday on the 2nd floor of Red Rock Coffee in downtown Mountain View. It features free live music, comedy, poetry and a supportive atmosphere for experienced and new performers. Oct. 16, 6:30 p.m., sign-ups; starts at 7 p.m. Free. 997 All Other Legals
NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: CONSTANCE KAY BARKER aka CONNIE KAY BARKER
Case No.: 116PR179681
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of CONSTANCE KAY BARKER, aka CONNIE KAY BARKER. A Petition for Probate has been filed by: KENT H. JONES and ERIK E. BARKER in the Superior Court of California, County of SANTA CLARA.
The Petition for Probate requests that: KENT H. JONES and ERIK E. BARKER be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. The petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.
The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.
A HEARING on the petition will be held on November 17, 2016 at 9:00 a.m. in Dept.: 10 of the Superior Court of California, County of Santa Clara, located at 191 N. First St., San Jose, CA, 95113. If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58 (b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.
You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Selling your Silicon Valley home?

First, contact Michael Repka of DeLeon Realty.

Unlike most real estate agents, Michael holds two law degrees and has years of experience as a real estate attorney, giving his clients a unique advantage as most other brokerages do not provide an in-house attorney to help clients. In addition, the expertise and marketing available through the team at DeLeon Realty are the very best in the business. Meet with Michael to discuss any preliminary questions about selling your home and let him tell you more about what makes DeLeon Realty's innovative approach to real estate so successful. There is no cost or obligation for this consultation.

However, Homeowners that have a current listing contract with another agent are excluded.

Open Saturday / Sunday

Mediterranean with Resort Grounds on One Acre

Privately positioned on one acre, this property makes a commanding first impression with its Mediterranean style and grand portico. Manicured grounds surround the spacious home, which has freshly painted interiors, new carpeting, and hardwood floors in some rooms. Formal venues are complemented by everyday rooms that comprise a handsome library plus a spacious chef's kitchen and adjoining family room opening to the resort-inspired rear grounds. Personal accommodations include 4 large bedrooms perfectly arranged for extended family and/or staff with private entrances and one with full kitchen. Outside, a solar-heated pool and spa invite endless hours of enjoyment surrounded in complete privacy with colorful rose gardens and an adjacent orchard. Adding to the appeal is the home's location, providing access to top-rated Los Altos schools and just 1.5 miles to the Los Altos Village.

Offered at $5,750,000
